The world of ministry is full of challenges and hardships, promotions and triumphs. The life of a leader is one of scrutiny, constant decision making and intense maintenance. Quite often, men of God are so busy with obligations to lead the people that their primary supporter--the wife--seemingly becomes an invisible workhorse. While it is right and proper to honor her according to protocol, she is frequently honored in ceremonial fashion only. Her husband may bear the brunt of pressures and criticisms, but he is also the one who is most praised, sought after and even coveted. As a result, the life of a first lady can become one of loneliness, frustration and anger. According to statistics, 50% of pastors' marriages end in divorce. 80% of pastors and 85% of their spouses feel discouraged in their roles and 95% of pastors do not pray regularly with their spouse. Damita Cook's heartfelt desire is to empower pastors' wives and women in leadership, to endure hardship and resist becoming weary in their well-doing.
